

VALMY

Design by Jullien Thaler

French Intuition

NorStone is moving forward, and for the first time it is getting out to market a range of furnishings manufactured in France. With NorStone édition, our desire is to surround ourselves with the best expertise throughout the industry in France. To get there, our model relies on our genuine French expertise. Quality of manufacturing, personalized products and creation in Burgundy are the defining terms for the new NorStone édition collection.

StoneGloss Technology

The NorStone édition Valmy features StoneGloss finish to ensure longevity, permanent gloss, and a unique look in no less than 34 colours available. The StoneGloss has the uncommon advantage of being tinted all through the material, so it has an exceptionally deep tone. This also means it's possible to correct any stripes that may appear. This substance literally adorns the element it covers.

Renowned designers

NorStone édition relies on expert French artisanship, but also on the creative strengths of its designers. Each piece is the culmination of the work of a designer who embodies that French Touch and all the designs are signed by the work of the artist. This procedure allows us to give real personality to each piece so each NorStone édition model is authentic, while maintaining a very contemporary design aesthetic. This is the philosophy behind all of the pieces in the NorStone édition collection.

VALMY, first of a lign

To accompany the launch of the «édition» line, NorStone is thrilled to introduce Valmy, the first TV stand designed and built for curved screens. It features rounded and softened lines, so it matches perfectly with the contours of your set. It has two curved drawers across the entire width to match the dimensions of new TV sets.
